The Reading Mother

By Strickland

Gillilan

I had a Mother who read me the things That wholesome life to the boy heart brings-
Stories that stir with an upward touch, Oh, that each mother of boys were such.

You may have tangible wealth untold;
Caskets of jewels and coffers of gold.
Richer than I you can never be —
I had a Mother who read to me.

UNITY

I dreamed I stood in a studio And watched two sculptors there. The clay they used was a young child's mind, And they fashioned it with care.

One was a teacher. The tools he used Were books, and music, and art. One parent with a guiding hand, And a gentle, loving heart.

Day after day, the teacher toiled, With touch that was deft and sure. While the parents labored by his side And polished and smoothed it o'er.

And when at last their task was done, They were proud of what they wrought. For this thing they had molded in the child Could neither be sold nor bought.

~Author Unknown

And each agreed he would have failed If he had worked alone. For behind the parent stood the school And beside the teacher the home.
