Emojis have become an essential part of our lives - while sending a text or when we chat with our friends. It is proven that these expressions have great benefits. A happy emoji sent by a friend or even an app will bring in some warmth and the person who receives it, feels good. Who wouldn't like to click on something that makes them feel good? So, our children of the 6th grade drew various expressions on their palms and clicked pictures. They enjoyed the activity thoroughly.

As India is an agrarian country, all the activities related to agriculture have had a profound effect on the culture of our country. This is commemorated through festivals such as Makar Sankranti, Baisakhi, Lohri, Pongal, Gudi Padwa, et.c which celebrate the season of harvest throughout India.

This also shows India's cultural and geographical diversity which our students of Std 8 tried to depict through various activities which included presentations, creating various culinary dishes from different parts of India, and showcasing cultural activities like dance.
