75th Independence Day

15th August, 2021 marks India's 75th Independence Day. This day is remarkably significant as it stands as a reminder of the sacrifices that many freedom fighters made, to overthrow the British rule in India.

Due to the pandemic and its resultant restrictions, we lost the chance to get together and celebrate this momentous occasion as we usually do, but of course we could not let that dampen our spirit. The members of the teaching staff, office staff, and kakas and maushis, under the guidance of our Headmistress, Mrs. Veena Havanurkar, collectively put their best foot forward and created a virtual Independence Day program that was thoroughly enjoyed by students and teachers alike.

The link for the same has been given below:

Changing the Narrative: I Want to See After 75 Years

Today we are celebrating the 75th year of independence. But if we look around we all are still in the process of being a developed country. There are many problems that we are trying to get rid of for many years. Some problems are new while some of them have been accompanying us for a long time.

The major problem that India is facing is poverty. It has many effects like illiteracy, child labour, unemployment etc. Hence, these people cannot afford education, food, clothes and the basic needs of a human just because they don't have enough money. But we can stop poverty by-

1. Quality education.
2. Access to health
3. Child participation

India needs well educated people in its governance. There has been great development so far but the needs of today could only be understood by a person who has sufficient education. If this change is adopted, it will help change the process of governance and the well-educated and talented people will help our country to flourish.

Creating numerous growth opportunities in our own country can stop the brain drain. Thus, the intellect of our people will be utilised in the development of our nation. Similarly, the increased prospects, in different fields, will lead to encouragement of having more and more made-in-India products and services.

Merit based systems should be given prime importance as against the reservation system. This will lead to more qualified and educated people.

A strong criminal law is the need of the society as the crimes against women are increasing. Women give life and yet her own life is in danger. A country can progress if the women of the nation feel safe. Every girl should have the right to live.

Back when the Britishers were ruling our land, we dreamt of becoming a free country and today we are a democratic, republic country, which provides us with justice, liberty and equality. Much has been already done by our freedom fighters, now it's our responsibility as a nation to contribute efforts, skills and ideas for the betterment of our nation.
